NRICHED BY THE AFFABLE MANNER OF
DR. OSCAR G. DARLINGTON

DEDICATION

"If I were not his son, I would still think of him as one of the finest men I know." This tribute for his son, Stephen, came up the autumn we held for a man whose effort, abilities, and sincerity have helped make Ohio Northern a finer institution — Dr. Oscar G. Darlington.

As Dean of the College of Liberal Arts for 12 years, Dr. Darlington guided us with both firmness and warmth, a unique combination. Now, as Professor of History, his personal interest in his students coupled with his wise counsel has brought us to regard him as a good friend as well as a fine administrator.

A man of wide-ranging interests in music, art, history, and politics, Dr. Darlington unashamedly admits that his nine children are his chief interest. And the warm concern given to his family permeates the genuine tribute paid by his son, a tribute which we sincerely echo.

Too often, when we ask of a man's place in this universe, we merely seek statistics. For the statistics spoken among us, Dr. Darlington came to Ohio Northern University in 1955. Since then he has held the position of Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Professor of History. However, to leave more than just a statistical account of his presence, we, the class of 1962, respectfully dedicate our yearbook to Dr. Oscar G. Darlington, administrator, scholar, teacher, and friend.

As we look back at Ohio Northern, we'll be surprised to find that we vaguely remember most of our friends but quite vividly remember the buildings in which we once learned. These structures will be the agents through which we will associate those friends that we vaguely remember with the good times we had.

Twenty-five selected high school teachers of English, History, and Social Studies were invited to be Fellows of the Institute.

Aurora - Pre-Mortar Board Society

Mortar Board, a national honor society for senior women, is one of the highest goals of all outstanding college women in the United States. It is unique in that it demands of its chosen fellows a combination of outstanding characteristics rather than a single area of achievement. The society selects each member on the basis of a high standard of scholarship, an unselfish spirit of service, and proven qualities of leadership. It is by demanding these high standards that Mortar Board hopes to stimulate and develop a finer type of college woman.

Aurora, Ohio Mortar's local honorory, is currently working toward a national Mortar Board charter. Having been founded only last year, the local society has just begun a seven-year trial period at the end of which it may petition for a national charter. With this long range goal in mind, Aurora has demanded of each of its members the same high quality of scholarship, service, and leadership, for eventually each member of Aurora will wear the coveted Mortar Board pin.

The main purpose of this organization is to discuss and decide the broad problems and issues that are common to all. IFC strives for better fraternities with better activities in a better Greek system. In this way, harmony and cooperation are promoted within the entire fraternity system. The Interfraternity Council sponsors many activities such as Greek Week and the IFC Ball.

... from the editor

Fellow students,

I sincerely hope that you have enjoyed your yearbook. It is a production that took twelve people about seven months to style, lay-out, and edit.

I'm sitting behind my desk now. It's Saturday morning and as I look around the small, green office, I can sense the sun rising as faint light starts to pour through the windows. Pictures and layout sheets are lying around almost ready to be put away until next year. Mr Jones' voice is coming over the radio, the coffee pot is warm, and the last assignment portfolio is almost ready to go to Buffalo. I feel a lot of relief now, but a little regret that it's all over.

I have time now to pause and think back and realize what a wonderful staff I had. It's unbelievable how a handful of people—college students—the ones many feel are constantly fluctuating—have this handful of people gave of their free time to work on what seemed to be endless hours on this book. We were worried that it wouldn't meet your approval—that was our main concern. Yes, the deadlines were pressing and the supplies were costly, but those worries were small.

One person who never let things worry her was my assistant editor, Joanne Gillespie. Many times I'd come up to the office, the door would be open, and Joanne would be hard at work. I'll never forget that look on her face when I called her to set up all the classes. It was a job and a half. Joanne did them beautifully and at the same time worked on everything else. Most important, when things got bad, Joanne was always there with a reassuring smile and a joke. For these things, I'll always be grateful.

Another to be commended for her work is my layout editor, Martha Beem who seemed to find time to work when there wasn't time. She'd go to meetings and conferences all day long and work on the book at night. Martha had an eye for design and knew exactly how she wanted a page finished. Thanks, Martha, for a beautiful job.

Martha's assistant, a freshman, Jan Kemezis, had one of the most difficult jobs on the yearbook. Jan spent hours making pages balance and her finished product always turned out beautifully. Jan was always willing to work and gave up her weekend afternoons to help out. Her loyalty to the staff was surpassed only by the pride she took in her work.

One man to whom I'll always be indebted is Mr. Gene Balch, our faculty adviser. Mr. Balch pulled us out of many tight spots and showed us how not to get back into them once we were out. His advice, patience, and experience were invaluable to us, and I don't know what we would have done without him.

When I was elected editor, I asked one of my fraternity brothers to be the copy editor. I heard many different remarks about this, but I couldn't have found a better man for the job than Bart Busick. When Bart does something, from playing drums to writing copy, he does it well. Thanks, Bart.

Another exceptional job was done by my sports editor, Terry Higgins. He designed what I feel is one of the most organized sports sections that I have ever seen. The "grind" seldom worried, worked hard, and set up his pages as well as he plays basketball—like a pro. Thanks too, Terry!

My campus life editor, Linda Gioia "journalist" Karna, a 5'11" stick of dynamite, ate around campus getting pictures, typing, identifying pictures, and doing most typing. I'll never forget her big grin and her words, "Let's get to work, I'm bored." Thanks for keeping us going, Peanut.

All year, we tried to keep the Focus there a secret. It was hard, especially for Martha Pyle, our artist. I'd call her and ask for enough art to fill a museum but it was always ready the following day. I don't know how Martha did it and I'll always be thankful.

Lyn Cooper and Shirley Moore, our index editors, didn't think that there was an end to the names and page numbers, but still they didn't complain. If they were tired of their work, they didn't say a word to me. Thank you, girls.

However, we wouldn't have been able to do a thing if it weren't for our photographers, Bill Thompson and John Tuttle! got a lot of hours in taking, developing, and printing pictures. When things got a little over-loaded, Jim Pyle, Jon Spear, Terry Musickoff, and Don Reynolds lent a hand.

There were many others who helped in small ways as Bonnie Garner and Mike Smith, but it's the small jobs that got the big ones done. Now can I say thanks to those who did the small jobs and especially to my staff who did the hard work. Thanks would not be enough for what they did. They made this book.

It's Saturday morning now and the last batch of copy is packed and ready to go. It was an experience I'll never forget. I hope that you will join me in looking back at our Alamy Winter. I'll remember Northern through this book in my own special way. I'm sure it will help you remember the school in years.

Please Do Not Remove From the Office of the Dean of Students

Sincerely,
Gene
